

APEA is an independent organization sponsored by the Higher Education Division of Arizona School Administrators and is affiliated with the National Council of Professors of Educational Administration (NCPEA).

Dr. Fenwick English

Based on his 2009 Walter Cocking Invitation Lecture for NCPEA and a book by the same title, Dr. English explores the need for the Restoration of Human Agency in the current Field of Educational Leadership, the need for competing research paradigms and a synoptic manifesto for change in the theory and practice of educational administration.

Dr. English is the past President of UCEA and currently a member of the NCPEA Executive Board. He is considered the father of curriculum mapping.
